

The IMPULSE communications module covers all facets of a child’s educational journey; schools, parents and professionals. The communications module puts you in control of all communications, enabling you to define lists of recipients, enable recipients to outline how they’d prefer to be contacted, distribute automated communications where necessary or utilise templates to send out key documentation.

The right communications at the right time

The communications module helps you to send out the right communications at the right time. Upload and use existing templates to gain complete control over every aspect of your communications.

Schedule the sending of communications in advance

User-defined contact preferences

Central record of all communications

You can record everything that you send – letters, emails, SMS and phone calls

Record all inbound communications from internal and external parties

Works in conjunction with your workflow to provide flexibility and oversight

The communications module also complies with all local regulations around different types of communications. By putting you in control, you can ensure that you are on top of all aspects of your communications.
